Platte Cuts New Channel At Ashland

Imperils Fertile Farmland, Highway, Main Rail Line

OMAHA — (AP) — The Platte river is cutting a new channel in the Linoma beach area, Roy N. Towl said today.

Towl, who is consulting engineer for the Western Sarpy Drainage district, said the new channel will become permanent if the river isn't put back in its banks. Army engineers were making a serial reconnaissance flight of the area today. It has been subjected to flooding because of ice blocks.

Follows Lower Land.

Towl said the ice block at Ashland had caused the river to cut through a rim of higher land at the river's edge and start off across country, following land eight to 10 feet lower than that at the river.

He said about 10,000 acres of fertile farm bottomland is imperiled and both the Burlington main line and highway six are affected.

The city of Lincoln also is concerned, he said, because it gets its water supply at Ashland. Ashland would be left high and dry by a permanent change, he said.

No Need For Alarm.

Deputy City Engineer Carl Fisher said there was no need for immediate concern about the Lincoln water supply. He said he had no late reports of the river's forming a new channel, but that the city's wells are "safe."

Light Rain Over East; Warmer Seen

Ice Jams May Cause Some Minor Flooding

Southeast and eastern Nebraska received varying amounts of rain early today and yesterday, ranging up to .85 of an inch at Plattsmouth. Warmer weather with increasing cloudiness is forecast for the state Wednesday.

Lincoln's precipitation yesterday amounted to .39 of an inch; the airport reported .42.

Other moisture reports, as given by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company, included: Pawnee City, .69 of an inch; Sterling, .67; Auburn, .62; Beatrice, .34; Crete, .35; Fairmont and Geneva, .51; Humboldt, .60; Nebraska City, .62; Osceola, .40; Sutton, .75; Tecumseh, .80; Valparaiso, .30; Wahoo, .50; and Weeping Water, .71.

The Omaha weather bureau listed these readings: Burwell, .05; Grand Island, .07; Norfolk, .06; and Omaha, .58.

Meanwhile, the Missouri and Platte rivers were again getting attention.

Heavy floating ice on the Platte probably will cause ice jams from Ashland to the mouth of the Platte with some local flooding in lowlands where ice jams occur during the next few days, the U. S. weather bureau warned.

At Omaha the Missouri rose from 6.9 feet Sunday to 10.8 feet this morning. At Blair the rise was from 10.4 feet to 14.75 while at Decatur the stage dropped from 12.4 Sunday to 6.4 today.

The river forecaster qualified the prediction of a 12-foot crest at Omaha on formation of ice gorges above or below the city.

From the mouth of the Platte to Nebraska City, the weather bureau said, the Missouri is expected to run at bankful levels with a stage of 15 feet probable at Nebraska City by Wednesday morning.

Lincoln and Sidney were the State's warmest spots yesterday with readings of 87 degrees. Sidney was also the low with 21 degrees.

Omaha Firm Asks To Buy Osborn Operating Rights

The Union Transfer company of Omaha Tuesday filed an application with the state railway commission asking authority to acquire the operating rights and authority of the Osborn Transfer and Storage company of Lincoln.

The application will be considered by the commission on or after March 31 and unless objections to the transfer are filed, no public hearings will be held. The commission said any objections would have to be submitted before March 30.

An official of the Lincoln firm said the Omaha firm is seeking to purchase the company's operating rights.

Child Welfare County Funds Reported Low

Three - Fourths Of Appropriation Gone

Everyone appearing before the county commissioners at the weekly meeting Tuesday voiced a familiar chant—more funds.

Five county welfare women told the board more than three-fourths of the $20,000 appropriated this fiscal year for care of neglected children has been spent.

And B. F. Preston, secretary of the Lancaster county Agricultural Society, said his group this year would need more than the customary $3,500 contribution by the board to carry on the annual county fair.

The welfare group explained that the $20,000 fund, used for home board care for children placed in foster homes, would not last out the current fiscal year.

49 Fund Higher.

Last year, $18,000 was spent for the care of neglected children. This was $3,000 more than was originally appropriated.

The welfare group pointed out that many of the parents whose children are placed in other private homes, contribute in part to their children's care. This money, however, is paid directly to the county treasurer. No figure on the amount for this year was available.

The county board requested the group to appear at next Tuesday's meeting with a report of the money spent last year and this year, the number of children being cared for and the amount of money paid to the county treasurer.

$600 Needed.

In the probate officer, M. Morning, juvenile probation officer, Phyllis Samuelson, county relief director, Esther Oelwein, supervisor of child labor, Edith Thompson, case worker with the county welfare board, and Hulda Stahnke, Lincoln policewoman.

Preston told the board the agricultural society would need at least $600 more this year and hoped the county would appropriate a total of $4,400. The society now has a cash balance of $36.20.

Most of the money is used to pay premiums to the county fair exhibit winners, he said. The board asked him to return in June when the 1949-1950 budget would be considered.

In action the board tabled for one week the request of the state liquor commission for recommendations on renewals of three year beer licenses in the county.

Applications submitted were: Frank L. Pihl, on-and-off sale, the Excelsior Bar, Fifty-sixth and Cornhusker; Fred J. West, on-and-off sale, Freddie's tavern, 848 North Fourteenth; and S. B. Stevens, off-sale, Teal's Cycle Shop, 500 West Van Dorn.

Hike In Disability, Death Benefits Given Green Light

... By Legislature's Labor Committee

In a short session Monday the legislative labor committee sent to general file LB 222, increasing disability and death benefits in workmen's compensation, and LB 240, providing that "tips" shall be considered a part of wages in figuring compensation benefits.

Under LB 222, maximum benefits under the workmen's compensation law are raised from $18 to $22 per week, and minimum payments from $6 to $11 per week. After the first 300 weeks of total disability, the maximum payment under the bill would be increased from $12 to $16 and the minimum from $4.50 to $6.

Hike Burial Payment.

The bill would also increase the maximum burial expense payment in fatal accidents from $100 to $250. Both labor and management appeared in favor of the increased benefits and there was no opposition to the bill voiced at the hearing.

Speaking in favor of the bill were Gordon Preble, Omaha, of the Nebraska Federation of Labor; Earl Luff, of the Lincoln Steel Works; John O'Connor, Omaha, representing the C.I.O., and Judge O. M. Olsen of the Workmen's Compensation Court.

Similar accord was found among witnesses appearing at the hearing on LB 240. The bill was amended before being sent to the floor to require that employees who gain part of their salary from "tips" or gratuities, must report those earnings to the employer for the purpose of figuring compensation benefits.

If the amount of income from such sources are not reported they are to be assumed to be $25 a week, when determining compensation benefits.

Ladd J. Hubka, Beatrice, said there are many instances of bell-hops and waitresses who are paid small wages because of their income from "tips." However, under the present law these tips are not considered a part of the salary when determining benefits, he said.

Center For Handicapped Children Opens This Week

The special education center for handicapped children at Park school will be put into operation the latter part of this week.

This was reported Tuesday at the meeting of the Lincoln board of education at the public schools administration building.

It is expected that eight or nine handicapped children will be enrolled at the beginning, Dr. Gilbert S. Willey, superintendent of schools, said.

Dr. Willey also reported that the pilot school patrol at Irving Junior high school will be in operation within a few days. The school patrol at Saratoga school was started Monday.

$1,900 To Red Cross. School employees contributed about $1,900 to the Red Cross which exceeds their quota by $550, Dr. Willey said.

Four students from Northeast high schools gave a report to the board on student leadership classes at the school.

Pat Hansen explained the organization of the senior high school leadership class. The three principal committees of the class are the assembly committee, pep committee and executive committee, she said.

Reporting on the junior high school leadership class were Christine Evans and Sarah Whitlock. The organization of the leadership class was explained by Miss Evans and Miss Whitlock.

It also was announced at the meeting that the Lincoln Junior League will present the play "Alladin and His Wonderful Lamp" to children of elementary school and junior high school ages.

Places and dates of the play: April 23, 1:00 p. m.—Irving Junior high school.

April 25, 3:45 p. m.—Irving Junior high school.

April 26, 3:45 p. m.—Northeast high school.

April 27, 3:45 p. m.—Whittier Junior high school.

April 28, 3:45 p. m.—Whittier Junior high school.

V.A. Bed Dearth Leaves 170 Vets In State Waiting

CHICAGO — (AP) — One hundred and seventy disabled veterans are awaiting hospitalization in Nebraska because of lack of beds in veterans' administration hospitals, the Disabled American Veterans reported today.

The DAV made this report to congress following a nationwide study by DAV service officers covering all veterans administration hospitals.

Quintus Camp, acting national DAV director for claims, told a special senate sub-committee of the labor welfare committee investigating the recent reduction of 16,000 VA hospital beds, that 16,188 veterans throughout the nation are awaiting hospitalization.

The DAV is opposing the reduction in the VA program and demanding a speedup in completion of VA hospitals. Camp told the senate the Nebraska waiting list included 163 general, medical and surgical cases, seven neuropsychiatric cases, and 11 awaiting admission to VA hospitals for rating purposes.

Hike In Disability, Death Benefits Given Green Light

... By Legislature's Labor Committee

In a short session Monday the legislative labor committee sent to general file LB 222, increasing disability and death benefits in workmen's compensation, and LB 240, providing that "tips" shall be considered a part of wages in figuring compensation benefits.

Under LB 222, maximum benefits under the workmen's compensation law are raised from $18 to $22 per week, and minimum payments from $6 to $11 per week. After the first 300 weeks of total disability, the maximum payment under the bill would be increased from $12 to $16 and the minimum from $4.50 to $8.

Hike Burial Payment.

The bill would also increase the maximum burial expense payment in fatal accidents from $100 to $250. Both labor and management appeared in favor of the increased benefits and there was no opposition to the bill voiced at the hearing.

Speaking in favor of the bill were Gordon Freble, Omaha, of the Nebraska Federation of Labor; Earl Luff, of the Lincoln Steel Works; John O'Conner, Omaha, representing the C.I.O., and Judge O. M. Olsen of the Workmen's Compensation court.

Similar accord was found among witnesses appearing at the hearing on LB 240. The bill was amended before being sent to the floor to require that employees who gain part of their salary from "tips" or gratuities, must report those earnings to the employer for the purpose of figuring compensation benefits.

If the amount of income from such sources are not reported they are to be assumed to be $25 a week, when determining compensation benefits.

Ladd J. Hubka, Beatrice, said there are many instances of bell-hops and waitresses who are paid small wages because of their income from "tips." However, under the present law these tips are not considered a part of the salary when determining benefits, he said.

Nebraska's Market

The international wheat pact, negotiated at Geneva, largely through the efforts of an American delegation, failed because of the refusal of the 80th congress to ratify it.

In Washington last week a complete new wheat pact was agreed upon, participated in by 46 nations instead of the 23 who met in Geneva. Under the provisions of the new agreement five governments—the United States, Canada, Australia, France and Uruguay—promise to supply for each of the next four years an approximate 450 million bushels of wheat. Although invited Russia and the Argentine are not participating.

Instead of $2 per bushel ceiling, as provided for in the Geneva pact, the new agreement fixes the top price during the next four years at $1.80 a bushel for the 41 importing nations. The minimum price is $1.50 per bushel for the first year, dropping 10 cents annually to $1.20 the fourth year. In simple language the new wheat agreement means that exporting nations will contract to charge no more than the ceiling at any time, the importing nations promise to pay at least the floor price.

The continuing drop in farm commodity prices makes this new wheat pact a "must" in the legislative column.

Slowly we have been edging toward the alternatives of curtailed wheat acreage, or the accumulation of surpluses with their inevitable effect upon prices. The answer is up to congress, and back of congress to the wheat growers, who in 1949 will harvest one of the largest acreages on record, a planting that in the winter wheat belt seems to have gone into the winter and to have come through in good shape.

The French Speak

The French people were not long in giving their answer to the North Atlantic pact. For no good reason it had been made the dominant issue in local elections which produced a sweeping victory for the middle-of-the-road government coalition. Only 48 hours earlier the text of the pact had been made public at a time when the communist tirade against it had reached the peak. The elections themselves correspond to our county contests, a strange field in which to inject international affairs but in the face of a communist challenge, French Premier Henri Queuille virtually asked for a vote of confidence for his entire foreign policy, at this time pivoted on the North Atlantic pact, and was sustained by a rousing vote.

Bread Upon The Waters

It was two years ago next June that torrential rains in the watershed of Medicine creek in southwest Nebraska sent a wall of water down that unruly stream, entailing heavy loss of life, and severe property damage. All over Nebraska substantial sums of money were sent to Cambridge to aid flood sufferers. It was appreciated by the people of that area. A few days ago up at O'Neill the Lions club of the Holt county seat received a letter from Cambridge, signed by Dr. H. I. Stearns, president

WHERRY TAKES A WILD SWING

There is a plausibility to Senator Kenneth Wherry's attack upon an MVA that will convince many people in this region, deeply interested in basin development, that they face a sinister threat to the realization of their hopes. The Ne-braskan insists that creation of a federal Missouri Valley authority would "threaten a slowdown, if not a breakdown" in the basin development program. That, of course, refers to the work now under way in the Pick-Sloan plan, to the progress of actual construction, to plans that have been completed and possibly to other plans in the blue-print stage.

★ In any common sense, down-to-earth thinking, it is difficult to foresee why what has been done, what is being done, and what plans have been prepared should not be fitted in, in their entirety, to what remains to be done. The idea that plans would be scrapped, work discontinued, efforts wasted simply is too fantastic for everyday thinking.

★ Nor is it necessary to haul out 50-cent words in order to get to the heart of this mounting controversy. In some quarters, at least, and it may not be the basis of Senator Wherry's thinking, the real fear of a valley authority relates largely to one field of development. That real fear is that the electricity generated by great hydro-electric plants will be distributed direct to the consumer by the government itself, at a saving of at least one profit. Two profits would be involved if that electricity generated at the dams was to be sold wholesale to the private utilities, which in turn would distribute it to the consumer. That would mean that even after the profits had liquidated the debts the electricity generated through basin development would continue indefinitely to en-of the Cambridge Lions club, enclosing a check for $100, with this explanation:

"We hope that you can use this money to 'n some way help those who have suffered as a result of the blizzards this winter. We would like to make this a bigger check but hope that even this amount will be of some assistance."

The members of the O'Neill club were flabbergasted.

Probably no section of the state suffered more severely from the blizzards than O'Neill, but it had come through, and appreciative as it was of the spirit back of that gift, the money was returned. The cries of distress are many, fortunately the American heart is as big as the American pocket-book. It is kindly little incidents of this kind which reveal the true fabric of the American way. We help each other, and we pull together when the chips are down and there is a job to be done.

An Increase, If Needed

Senator Bob Taft of Ohio has 'em guessing, and why not? He is chairman of the senate republican policy committee, his words carry weight, but of late it has seemed he is out of step with a powerful bloc within his own party. Taft had Washington tongue-wagging when over the week-end, he said publicly, he may support an increase in taxes in event there is any "substantial" government deficit at the end of the present fiscal year, June 30.

On its face, although nothing in the language involves any specific commitment to Mr. Truman's demand for more taxes, the words will have a chilling effect. Tax money can be gotten from only one source and that is from those who have it or make it.

Recently the treasury department came up with some figures of wide interest. Out of 52,600,470 people filing federal income tax returns in 1946, the treasury reported that only 2,227,013 listed an income of $6,000 a year, or more. They comprised 4.23 per cent of the federal income taxpayers but paid 51.27 per cent of the revenue collected by Uncle Sam. They paid an approximate 8 1/4 billion of the 16 billions collected in income taxes in 1946.

Senator Taft will be serving his party wisely and well, however, if he breaks down a fiction created by a republican leadership less scholarly, and less politically honest than Taft himself. This year particularly the great burden of federal taxation will go for national defense—the items related to it, plus the interest charge on the national debt, and plus expenditures for the care of veterans, plus the cost of the Marshall plan accounting for 76 cents out of every dollar.

There isn't much that anyone can do about that.

Senator Taft was only facing the facts honestly when he set Washington to buzzing with speculation.

Self-Help In Nebraska

NOTE: One of the difficult problems confronting the Nebraska unicameral, possibly a little past midstream in its session, is the matter of state aid for the public school system. The first step in that is, or should be, reorganization of Nebraska school districts, scores of them undertaking the burdens of supporting modern schools which have an attendance of one, two, three, or a handful of children. The construction of better school facilities, the arrangement of a more satisfactory curriculum, and better staffing of the schools are of prime importance. The problem is not limited to Nebraska, although it may be more acute in this state, but other states face it and some of the other states are doing something about it.

In Michigan, near Jackson, the Christian Science Monitor reported recently that one 50-square-mile school district now has a combined community activity center and school gymnasium-auditorium, a building 82 by 142 feet, appraised at over $100,000, constructed, however, at a cost of less than $40,000 in cash by the citizens of the Springport Rural Agricultural School district.

How did those people do it? They decided to concentrate all of their school facilities on the one site, a three-acre tract. Donations of materials and volunteer labor saved the taxpayers over $60,000. That particular area, heavily timbered, held one advantage. As a community enterprise, its pine forests contributed 10,000 board feet of lumber. And willing men and boys from all walks of life turned out for the excavating, the concrete and steel work, the carpentry and all other construction details. When the building was complete there was only a debt of $10,000, which will be paid out of the earnings of the community auditorium.

That is an extreme case, it should be granted, but the problem of rural education, better rural life is by no means hopeless. Where it is practical self-help should have a dominant part in what we do. In this state there are communities that have followed the pattern adopted in Michigan in community developments and they have made a great success of it. It is a matter of deep satisfaction when that happens.

rich the profits of the private utilities distributing it.

★ That issue is not a generality. For that reason there is a vagueness, a lack of meaning to such glittering phrases as "the creeping paralysis of socialism." If Senator Wherry favors the generation and sale of that electricity to the consumer by the government he can say so without much effort. If he is opposed to it, and there can be an honest difference of opinion, he also can say so in understandable fashion. But he contributes nothing to common understanding with a cry of the "creeping paralysis of socialism," contributes nothing, it would appear, to general understanding of a battle backstage, behind the scenes, a fierce, savage battle in which a powerful utility lobby in a last-ditch stand has said that it is opposed to any more valley authorities. Many good and earnest people share the same misapprehension of one phase of this fight.

★ If the Pick-Sloan plan is sound it will not depart substantially from the TVA pattern. If an MVA is sound it could not depart drastically from the TVA multiple purposes of flood control, navigation, water storage along with irrigation here, and the generation of electricity embodied as the cornerstone of the Pick-Sloan plan. If they are sound—either one of them—they will do the job right, and if they are not sound we do not want them. What should disturb the people here is that a nonsensical quarrel may destroy a development we desire and need for our own future economic stability. We are now battling with Wyoming over Glendo plans, California, Arizona and New Mexico are in each other's hair over the water of the lower Colorado. People may pound their desks about federal authorities but deliver us from a daily dogfight between different states, each one eying the other suspiciously, convinced something is being slipped over.

OFF THE RECORD

"You're just in time to give baby his two o'clock bottle—I see that you've already had yours!"

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Under current debate in the senate is a relatively obscure amendment to the Marshall plan appropriation which happens to be of vital interest to every American who may have to shoulder arms.

In brief, it boils down to the fact that the United States opposes aggression by words while feeding aggression with money.

Specifically the amendment states that an aggressor nation cut off all trade with Italy—except the one product which would have paralyzed Italy—oil. Without oil the Italian navy could not sail, Italian airplanes could not fly, Italian tanks could not move. Nevertheless, tongue in cheek, the diplomats decided to let Mussolini, the wanton aggressor, have oil.

After that it was only a matter of time before full-scale European war was inevitable. Not only Mussolini, but Adolf Hitler knew how easy it was to buffalo the democracies and their alleged peace machinery.

Hitler later knew, among other things, that Standard Oil of New Jersey made a secret deal with I. G. Farben to hold back from the American public the priceless patents on synthetic rubber—patents which the nazis developed while the American people were caught woefully short of rubber after Pearl Harbor.

Scene 4—Washington. Time — the present. Once again the oil lobbyists are busy. Once again they have the ear of the state department. The Dutch East Indies are rich in oil, and Standard Vacuum's president, "Shorty" Elliott, has been busy backstage in Washington.

Standard of New Jersey has cleaned up its personnel and is under new executives since Pearl Harbor. But its 50 per cent subsidiary, Standard Vacuum, has its genial president playing close to William Lacey, the state department official who handles Dutch affairs. Lacey is a dilettante diplomat who is supposed to be tough with the Dutch, but who is winned and dined at the Dutch embassy. He is anything but tough.

Officially and publicly, the state department has hurled a wrathful words of indignation at the Dutch government. It has denounced the Dutch as aggressors, invaders, violators of their word.

But when it comes to using the only language the Dutch understand—cutting off Marshall plan aid—the state department looks the other way. It has been clearly shown that the Marshall plan money we send the Dutch is passed on to the Dutch army to fight a war in violation of the United Nations.

Yet when senators want to cut off this aid, the state department has whispered, unofficially but effectively, "No." A different state department from the days of Henry L. Stimson and Frank B. Kellogg is in control today. The democrats who talk against republican isolation are in power instead. But the oil companies are just as powerful, the diplomats are just as shortsighted—and history may repeat.

Scene 1—The Pan American union, Time—1928. Calvin Coolidge was in the White House; Frank B. Kellogg was secretary of state; the world was relatively peaceful. Suddenly in the jungles of South America, war broke out between Bolivia and Paraguay.

The republican party is traditionally isolationist. But many of its leaders have struggled more persistently than democrats to ensure peace. Two of these were Charles Evans Hughes and Secretary Kellogg. Hughes was a private citizen in 1928, but Kellogg summoned him to Washington and both threw all their weight into prevent war in South America.

At first they succeeded. For two years, constant, tireless conciliation efforts kept the two nations apart.

However, as in most wars, an economic factor was involved. The Dillon, Read banking firm of Secretary of Defense Forrestal had loaned Bolivia $20,000,000, which was used to buy arms. With such an arsenal to play with, no one could have kept the Bolivians from making war.

However, Kellogg's and Hughes' peace efforts, though eventually ending in failure, set an inspiring example to the rest of the world. The world's peace machinery was still reasonably intact.

Scene 2—Mukden, Time—Sept. 18, 1931 and the months following. Henry L. Stimson, another republican, was secretary of state. This time, a more powerful nation, Japan, decided to become the aggressor. Stimson saw in this two things: 1. A complete breakdown of the world's peace machinery; 2. The beginning of Japan's conquest of all China.

Mobilizing the weight of the League of Nations, the 9-power pact, and the Kellogg pact, Stimson spent months trying to plug this hole in the dike of peace.

The British, the French, and even American economic interests undercut him. Later, and right up to Pearl Harbor, American oil companies and scrap-iron dealers dumped shipload after shipload of

LOSS OF POPULATION

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Arthur C. Storz of Omaha has created some hubbub by his brutally frank discussion concerning Nebraska's loss of population, even in boom years. Mr. Storz is concerned about the economic situation which has created a demand for a Missouri Valley Authority. A good case can be built up for the MVA, as The Lincoln Star has many times pointed out. The facts upon which advocates of MVA rest their case are incontrovertible truths that have stood up stubbornly against the million-dollar smear campaign launched by vested interests. One overlooked fact should not be overlooked: Senator Wherry has just declared himself vehemently against MVA. That alone should at least arouse suspicion that MVA is in the public interest and for the general welfare.

WHEN IT'S SPRING. Lincoln, Neb.
The calendar says today is spring. I can hardly believe it's true. To me it's spring when the wild birds sing and the sky is bright and blue; To me it's spring when the kids are out with their gas in dad's new car. And the book beer flows 'neath the barley's nose in every tavern bar.

When the leaves peep out on the budding trees like merry little elves, And the bums emerge from the fireplace door and proceed to scratch themselves. When the doves fly down to the fountain's edge and lower their heads to drink And the roaches celebrate their life beneath the kitchen sink. It's spring to me when the air is soft and the grass is growing green And the flies intrude to sample my food through the hole in the window screen. When the backyard farmer feels the urge to resume that outdoor life And stops to flirt though covered with dirt with his neighbor's pretty wife. When violets fair and maidenhair thrive in the friendly shade, And the cats purr each night and yowl their hellish serenade. When the robins start to build a nest in the tree by the old new car And the neighbor sleeps with his window and I hear his claxon snore.

When the sun shines in across my bed each day a little stronger, And I put the cover over my head to sleep a little longer. When it's after midnight I arise and yawn to the clock over my head and say: 'Tis then I believe it's spring, dear folks, then I believe it's spring.

PRODUCTION A SOLUTION.

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Our nation's inflation grows. Wholesale prices are about 60 per cent higher than the 1926 level. Average factory wages passed the $50-a-week mark. Organized labor and farm products advanced proportionately. Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve board says there is just too much money in circulation—it was pumped out by the government's war borrowing and such, like GI loans for homes at inflated prices. From 1940 to 1946 cash in pockets or banks increased from $40 to $106 average. Consequently when congress removed controls the accumulated demands sent prices skyward—notwithstanding Senator Wherry's promise to the contrary. Mr. Eccles proposes lower wages, lower profits, an end to government supports; that taxes be kept high to whittle down the federal debt and lessen the interest load. However, he emphasizes the ultimate solution is production.

LOVING THY NEIGHBOR.

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: During this solemn Lenten season the church commands the faithful to set aside all worldly pleasures and enter into the wilderness of spiritual contemplation and self examination. In many churches special literature is distributed among the laity in which much stress is placed upon the Biblical admonition: "Love thy neighbor, and those who persecute you." No attempt has been made to explain the true meaning underlying these words. They were

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Memory brings back a scene in the senate of the United States. It is the spring of 1935. Huey Long has the floor, bawling and harrying and frustrating the inept democratic leadership.

With all his skill and ruthlessness he had tied the democrats in knots and was making them squirm. Huey was on his way and there was nothing that could stop him.

On the minority side of the aisle the republicans were laughing merrily. They enjoyed the performance and now and then they tried to help out. But Huey abruptly turned to address them directly:

"You republicans can sit over there and tee-hee-hee and haw-haw. But don't think that you're going to step in and take over when these democrats here get kicked out. Because you're not."

The republicans, Huey was saying, would not inherit power out of confusion and breakdown. They would inherit the inevitable heirs of democratic failure. Huey himself meant to inherit the earth and he knew that his brand of potent demagoguery would triumph over the enfeebled conservatism of the republican party.

Having again helped to snarl the democratic majority in a tangled web of futility, the republicans may think that surely this time they will profit from the confusion of their enemies. Perhaps for one congressional election they may. But for the long pull of a presidential victory it seems to me an extremely doubtful proposition.

For many who remember the promises of the campaign of last fall, what is happening looks like a failure of representative government. If the coalition of republicans and southern democrats holds against the major items of legislation in the Truman program, then the score for this session will be close to zero and a final judgment will be justified.

For such a failure the republicans would have to accept a large share of public responsibility. Without their aid and active connivance it would not have been possible to kill all civil-ights legislation as now seems to have been done for this session at least.

uttered at a time when those who openly professed the then new religion were in constant danger of their lives. The words of Our Lord uttered from the cross: "Father, forgive them they know not what they do": were logical and justified, for His enemies believed Him to be an impostor and dangerous to the government when He called Himself a king and the son of the living God. They failed to see that His kingdom was not of this world, and feared the overthrow of the government by His increasing followers. The crime committed against our blessed Lord was done in ignorance, hence His tolerant attitude toward His executioners. To apply this form of tolerance toward the enemies of our country is sacrilegious. They deliberately forced a brutal war upon a peaceful world. It was a carefully planned and premeditated war of murder, lust, brutality, and perpetrated by a nation whose civilization was founded upon a religious basis, long before America was discovered. There is no Biblical record of Christ forgiving His betrayer, Judas Iscariot. Why? Simply because Judas was not ignorant of the terrible crime he committed against his master. He bartered his soul for worldly gain, even as our enemies gambled and lost a few years ago.

Riverton, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It happened in the United States—not Russia, the land of communism—but in the United States, the land which proclaims all men are created equal. In a land where Abraham Lincoln announced that ours was a government of the people, by the people and for the people; in a land where Jefferson proclaimed that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and pursuit of happiness; in a land where Woodrow Wilson said that we

Jacobson To Attend Hearing On Taxi Rates

Local Cab Companies Seek Higher Fares

City Attorney John Jacobson will look into the taxicab companies' application before the state railway commission for a rate increase.

The council Monday directed Jacobson to represent the city at the hearings Thursday but gave him no instructions to support or oppose the rate change. One question rising out of the discussion was whether a city could fix taxi rates in its home rule charter. Now, the commission establishes rates and companies abide by them.

Seek Rate Hike.
Currently Lincoln's charter provides that taxicab companies may charge 35 cents for the first mile and 10 cents for each additional one-third mile. But the companies are operating under a July 1938 ruling of the railway commission ordering the companies to charge 25 cents for the first mile and five cents for each additional quarter mile with no charge for additional passengers. Under the

QUITS USING HARSH LAXATIVES

"I was always troubled with constipation, until I started eating ALL-BRAN regularly. Haven't needed a laxative since!"
Matthew J. McFadden, 305 W. Center Avenue, Maple Shade, N. J. This is just one of many unsolicited letters. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN may help you too if your constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet. Simply eat an ounce daily, and drink plenty of water. If not satisfied after 10 days, send the empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. Get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

1938 rule the companies charge five cents for each two minutes of waiting time or a maximum of $1.50 per hour.

The companies want to charge 25 cents for the first half mile and five cents for each additional quarter mile. They want to charge 25 cents each for more than three passengers. The companies object to piling six or eight passengers into a cab, riding a short distance and collecting a quarter.

Waiting time would cost a straight five cents each two minutes if the companies get the change.

Renew Beer Licenses.

In other action the council: (1) Rejected a zoning board recommendation that zoning notice signs be dispensed with. Signs will continue to be posted despite loss from weather and vandalism.

(2) Approval renewal of four beer licenses: Victor and Leota Bartlett, 1035 O Lincoln County club, 3109 South Twenty-fourth; Carl Strashem, 1120 N. Alfred J. Stroh, 148 North Fourteenth.

(3) Denied application of John C. Wilkins for permission to sell beer on his premises at Huskerville. He may choose a new location nearer the center of the city. Cost is estimated at between $200 and $300. The city would pay the other half.

(4) Directed Building Inspector Ed Vorhees and Deputy City Attorney A. A. Whitworth to study sign board regulation.

(5) Filled specifications for leasing 40 acres of Seacrest park at J and Polson for agricultural purposes and 21 acres of Sawyer tract for pasture.

(6) Approved erection of a steel marquee over loading dock of Grainger Brothers company at 727 P street.

Robert Klein 13th To File For Council

Favors More Local Parking Facilities

Robert (Bob) Klein, local insurance agent, filed petitions Tuesday morning to enter the race for city council. The petitions carried signatures of 529 voters.

Klein is the 13th candidate to file for the council.

If elected, Klein said, he will "put forth all effort to work in harmony with my co-workers, the people, and every civic organization."

Specific things which he said he would support are: better bus transportation, more parking facilities, more employment through more industry, and close work with the Parent Teachers association on juvenile delinquency.

"The past two years have been trying and eventful. In spite of this the council did a splendid job in keeping down our taxes," Klein said. He was a council candidate two years ago.

Klein has been in the life insurance business in Lincoln for more than 20 years. He attended the University of Nebraska in 1920 and 1921. He is a member of the chamber of commerce and lives at 1245 New Hampshire.

Clay Confirms Death Sentence Of Sgt. Huber

FRANKFURT, Germany—(AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay today confirmed the death sentence of S. S. Sgt. Hubert Huber, one of the Malmédy massacre defendants.

Huber was convicted with 11 other Germans of killing unarmed American prisoners of war on Dec. 17, 1944, during the Battle of the Bulge.

The U. S. military governor confirmed the death sentence of another defendant last week and commuted that of a third. The cases of the other defendants are still under review.

had killed a man not of their own color. Yes, it happened here in the land of the free and the home of the brave, where a president who sought to secure passage of a bill to give protection to men who are mobbed, persecuted, kept from voting at the polls, was opposed by a senate—presumed to represent the American citizen—and his ideals of justice were thwarted in his efforts to secure passage of such a law. Of course all good men everywhere hate and detest the unjust, cruel principles of communism and the atrocious acts performed under its banner, but is a lawless, inhuman policy a stench arising to heaven when invoked in Russia and a sweet perfume when enacted in the land of the free? By unjust procedure the president's bill was defeated through filibuster tactics invoked by men who represented not the will of the common people; yes, actually defeated was a bill which would have given force and effect to the declaration of independence instead of nullifying that grand document. And when this was accomplished and the American citizen left to the mercy of the mob, did the boasted free American press speak out at the outrage? Indeed it did not. Most rejoiced at the president's disappointment, criticized him, published cartoons showing him as a thwarted, depressed man and giggled with glee at his discomfiture. Did they express their concern that the common people were ignored by the defeat of the bill? Knowing that both political parties had in the recent campaign pledged their support of such a bill, with very few exceptions they expressed no concern over the defeat of the bill. Let us be as quick and vigorous to act against wrongs and injustice perpetrated against our own citizens as we do when such are perpetrated against an unfortunate Russian.

Federal Aid Is Requested For Flood Control

... At Beatrice

BEATRICE, Neb.—(INS)—Residents of the mud-littered west side of Beatrice renewed their efforts today to obtain federal aid for flood control of the treacherous Big Blue river which drove hundreds from their homes earlier this month.

Despite the turbulent destruction of the Big Blue which made Beatrice a Red Cross disaster area less than two weeks ago, residents say "it might have been worse."

Following a flood in 1947, townspeople contributed to build a private levee along the stream. The job was handled by a non-profit organization named the Beatrice Flood Control association. A grocer, Ray Umphenour, is president.

$600,000 Proposal.

The local organization battled successfully last year to raise and hold the dike against a spring flood.

Two weeks ago, Umphenour said, there was little to be done but sandbag the lowest places and "pray it would hold." It did. Otherwise, the rush of water probably would have swept countless business establishments and homes from their foundations.

Umphenour wrote Rep. Carl Curtis (R-Neb). "This dike has taken enough beating and probably will not be able to withstand another such test."

The Flood Control association asked the Minden, congressman to meet with them and discuss speeding up legislation for a proposed $600,000 flood protection system.

"Drive-In" Ruling Is Under Fire

Attorney Says $50,000 Invested In Building

Recent council action requiring curbs restored at the Sixteenth and N beer and liquor drive-ins of Val Weiler and Roy Wythers was again under fire Monday.

But the "heat" applied by attorneys for the liquor and beer drive-in owners did not probe the city council into action. Instead, members delayed action on the recommendation that they should rescind the earlier ruling.

The council's move of several weeks ago also ordered curbs restored at two other drive-ins because of what the council termed "policing difficulties."

Hints Discrimination.

Attorneys for Wythers and Weiler appeared and presented their arguments on the council order. Frank Williams, speaking for Weiler, said the building was designed and constructed specifically for its present use and its rental value for some other purpose was slight.

The two tenants and the building owner have from $40,000 to $50,000 invested in the building and fixtures at the present time, Williams said. Weiler's fixture investment is $10,000. Williams said his own inclination was to take the matter to court but Weiler felt it only right to give the council a chance to correct its previous mistake.

Phil Aitken, representing Wythers, said the building had been constructed after a permit for the location had been issued and after building plans showing the curb cuts were approved. The beer and liquor businesses are as legal as any other and there is no legitimate reason why they should be discriminated against in the matter of curb cuts.

Policing No Problem.

Policing is no problem, Aitken said. There is no consumption on the premises and the operator is responsible to see there isn't. Policing is much easier when the cars are parked in a flood lighted area and there is only one door to each establishment as in the present building. Police on foot and in cruiser cars can see who enters the building much easier than they can check sales made from doors on alleys at other liquor and beer stores, Aitken said.

The business increase experienced by the drive-ins constitutes a demand that drive-ins are what customers and citizens want, Aitken said. He filed two short petitions signed by business leaders supporting drive-ins.

George Adams, owner of one of the four drive-ins included in the city council order of curb restoration, appeared at the hearing Monday afternoon in support of the action.

Traffic Volume Shows Increase Over January

Traffic on highways in Nebraska during February showed an increase of 36 per cent over the January figures but was still 12 per cent less than the miles traveled in the same month last year, according to a report made by the state highway department.

Total daily travel on all rural roads during February amounted to 5,374,000 miles as compared with 6,091,000 miles traveled every 24 hours during February 1948. Highway department officials said the drop in traffic volume was probably due to the bad weather and the resulting road conditions.

Of the 12 stations where traffic counts were made, only two showed increases over last year's volume, while all but one showed an increase over January, 1949, volume.

Greatest increase over the January figure at a counting station on U. S. highway No. 20 eight miles east of Chadron, where the volume increased 262 per cent last month. Second high was at a station on U. S. 26 one mile east of Scottsbluff where the increase was 197 per cent.

Travel on U. S. No. 30 two miles west of Elm Creek was down a per cent from the January figure for the only decrease.

Traffic volume for the first two months of 1949 was 24 per cent less than for the same two months in 1948.

Housewives Nearing End Month's Tour In Europe

LONDON—(AP)—Thirty American housewives neared the end of a month's tour of Europe today. The touring women, most of them farm wives, are from Nebraska, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Iowa. Their average age is just over 50.

"My, we certainly saw a lot," said Mrs. Eleanor McMullen, of Stella, Neb. At 78, she was one of the pace setters of the packed tour.

Extensive Tour.

The women left home a month ago. They have traveled through Italy, Holland, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, France and England.

They departed today for Dublin. They plan to leave Shannon, Erie, by air early Wednesday for home.

Their big impression of England was its lack of a black market.

"There just doesn't seem to be any," said Mrs. Walter Kloppe of Underwood, Ia.

"And how people here put up with the continued rationing is amazing. We'd squawk our heads off at home."

Milk, eggs, butter, fats and meat are among the things still rationed here.

Inspect Farms.

The women all have spent time on farms in Europe and England. Mrs. McMullen said she was impressed by the use made of the land.

"Every square inch of it is in cultivation on the farms over here," she said. "The fences are clean and there are no weed patches."

Mrs. W. H. Bodemer of Cozad, Neb., feels sure Marshall aid has been a "big help to Europe."

"It's not only what women we've met have told us, but in some cases it's what they didn't say," she said. "Some things we have seen were very depressing. But then, that's been good for us, too."

"If we can go back and make any little impression toward a permanent peace, then the trip was worth while. There are only 30 of us, but we'll spread the word through talks to women's clubs and other organizations."

Mrs. A. W. Anderson of West Point, Neb., thought most countries they visited have a "good start toward recovery."

Mrs. Henry Dinklage of Pender, Neb., said she saw "so much, so fast I will have to go home and think about it for a while."

Despite the fast pace of sight seeing and information gathering, none of the women missed any of it because of illness or fatigue.

They skipped some things in order to shop more. They bought linens in Italy, watches in Switzerland and perfumes in Paris.

They had some difficulty with the swift changes in languages and money. They had the language difficulty with sign language.

When they couldn't find the right change in a strange currency, they just opened their purses and let the local shopkeepers do it.

2 Retirement Bills Killed By Committee

Last Of Six Pension Measures Tossed Out

Two more retirement bills, both concerning school teachers and employees, suffered the same fate Monday that four other similar bills were accorded last week, when they were killed by the committee on miscellaneous appropriations.

The bills, LB 132 and 162, were the last of six retirement measures introduced at this session of the legislature. All of the bills have been killed in committee.

LB 162 sought to raise the state's contribution to the present school retirement plan from $1 to $2.50 per month for each year of service and to increase the maximum benefits under the plan from $30 to $75 a month.

LB 132 would have included the Omaha teachers in the state retirement system.

Hearings on the two measures were held on Feb. 25, but they were held by the committee until Monday.

Other retirement bills, killed by the committee last week, concerned retirement system for state officers and employees, municipal retirement systems, systems for Supreme and District court justices, and the Omaha teacher retirement plan.

Sen. Charles Wilson, Norfolk, introducer of LB 162, said Monday he was undecided on whether an attempt would be made to raise the bill to the legislative floor over the committee's action.

Bad Roads Are State's Biggest Job

Government Council Official Tells Group

Some of the more difficult and controversial matters facing the unicameral and legislatures of other states—taxes, roads, education—received further examination by legislators with the aid of an official of the National Council on State Governments Monday night.

Hugh Gallagher of Chicago, associate director of the Council on State Governments, reviewed some of the more urgent problems before the states with the unicameral committee on inter-governmental co-operation.

Highway and motor vehicle difficulties were termed by Gallagher as "probably the biggest question" perplexing states in the mid-west.

"Because of the unusually severe winter," he said, nearly all county roads and many of the highways are just shot. Repairing them is a must, he added, but where the money is coming from is the big problem.

Vehicle Tax Suggested.

Gallagher recommended, as did many nation-wide surveys he cited, increased motor vehicle taxes, especially on motor carriers as a partial solution to the highway imbroglio.

"It is widely recognized that heavy motor carriers are not carrying their proportionate share of highway upkeep," he declared. The need for more adequate enforcement of weight limits for trucks was also noted.

Senators and Dr. Roger Shumate of the Legislative Council agreed that in Nebraska this is a "tough baby." Some claimed it was unconstitutional and others said it was "unenforceable."

But Governor Peterson declared that "some day the people of Nebraska will have to decide whether they want to enforce the law or see their roads continually busted up."

"Small truckers," the governor stated, "are for the enforcement of weight limits, because big truckers overload as a matter of policy."

No Income Tax Bar.

Duplication and complication of the gasoline tax was scored by Gallagher. His agency, he said, is working to get the federal government out of this field. When queried by Senator Lee if this meant keeping state governments out of the income tax field, Gallagher replied "not necessarily."

Twenty-six states now have an income tax, and because of the rising cost of government most of the others are contemplating income or sales taxes, the Chicagoan stated.

Education legislation was not discussed in too great detail because, according to Gallagher, each state has its own unique problems. But he said that the national council has just completed a survey which will be available to the governor and the education committee in a few days.

Uniform Laws Needed.

The need for uniform laws on insurance legislation and grants-in-aid were also cited by Gallagher. But he added that Nebraska's record for co-operation on uniform laws is "one of the best."

Other subjects bandied by the group were Missouri River development, disaster and defense measures, and annual or biennial sessions of the legislatures. On none of these however, was there any general conclusion.

Senator Fay Wood, chairman of the committee on inter-governmental co-operation, presided at the meeting. Senators present were: Babcock, Lee, Hoyt, Metzger, Victor Anderson, Schroeder, Callan, and Carmody. Ex-Senator C. Petrus Peterson attended with some of the governor's advisory staff.

Crop Loan Money, Grain Collateral Both Assessable

Federal Crop Loan money and the grain on which it was borrowed both may be assessed if they are in the hands of the mortgagors on March 10.

That was the opinion given to Tax Commissioner Philip K. Johnson today by Assistant Attorney General William Gleason.

Gleason wrote that there is no statutory provision to exempt from assessment the proceeds of a mortgage of personal property.

City Opposes Bill Dividing Viaduct Costs

... In Resolution

The city voted Monday afternoon to oppose LB 56, pending in the legislature and which would change statutes requiring railroads to construct and pay for viaducts over tracks at city direction.

Council members in supporting a resolution opposing the legislation expressed the opinion that the measure would reduce some of the powers granted the city under the provisions of the home rule charter.

Copies of the resolution adopted by the council are to be sent to members of the Lancaster county delegation in the legislature.

Would Allow Appeal.

The bill would require a city and a railroad to build a viaduct by agreement and to apportion the costs by agreement. Appeal to the courts would be the next step if agreement could not be reached.

Cities would retain the right to determine the need for a viaduct.

The bill was prepared by supporters of the railroad's position, was amended in committee and reported to the floor. Vote on the move was delayed a week to permit cities to express their opinions.

Omaha will neither fight nor support the bill City Attorney John Jacobson told the council Monday, but "will rely on the wisdom and judgment of the legislature."

He added that he understood the meeting has been called for April 2 at 9:30 a. m. at Scottsbluff. Official representatives of Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska have been invited to attend the meeting, along with any interested persons from the three states.

Retaliation Is Delayed By Soviet Berlin

... After East Mark Ban

BERLIN—(AP)—Qualified observers today viewed as an important concession a Russian statement concerning the west's ban on Russian-sponsored currency of the eastern zone of Germany.

Col. Alexander Jelissarov, acting Russian commandant of Berlin, said last night the western move would "deepen the split in Berlin," but that the Soviet military administration does not intend to restrict the use of the east marks now held by western Berliners.

This indicated the Russians would not prevent western Berliners from spending the east marks they now hold either in the Soviet sector of Berlin or the Russian zone of Germany.

Important Concession.

It also indicated the Russians did not intend to introduce a new east mark which would be refused to western Berliners. Many had feared that the Russians, in retaliation to the western allied move outlawing their currency, might pull a currency switch of their own which would wipe out east marks holdings of western Berliners and even east mark bank accounts as people in the western sector still had.

The Soviet announcement was viewed as an important concession for the reason too: Apparently Berliners in possession of west marks still can trade them for the cheaper east marks to be taken over the line for use in ration-free stores of the Soviet sector. East marks also could pay Soviet zone farmers for food smuggled through the blockade.

Apparently, a Russian sector resident who works in western Berlin still can convert his west marks to east marks at a premium. The western sector resident who works in the east zone apparently will not find his money worthless in his home sector, as he had reason to fear.

Missourian Is Quizzed In Wife's Death

... Wed 5 or More Times

FARMINGTON, Mo.—(AP)—William C. Mahurin, 53, a man of several wives, was held in the St. Francois county jail today while authorities looked further into the death of a woman he says was wife No. 5.

Before their marriage last fall she was Mrs. Charlotte Thelma Fisk of St. Louis. She was 46. Last Wednesday they moved to an 80-acre farm they had just purchased, near here. The next morning neighbors heard Mahurin shouting, and they found his wife's body in the yard.

The front of her clothing had burned, and she had suffered burns on the stomach and legs. She was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Reports Stove Exploded.

Sheriff Dewey Smallen said Mahurin told him a kitchen stove exploded and set his wife's dress on fire. He said he wrapped her in a blanket and carried her to the yard.

Mahurin said he was at the barn milking when he heard his wife scream.

At an inquest Friday, at Desloge, Mahurin testified he had no criminal record other than "a couple of misdemeanors." Prosecuting Attorney B. C. Tomlinson, noting a 1935 arson sentence of two years on Mahurin's record, promptly charged him with perjury and held the inquest open.

In the meantime the contents of Mrs. Mahurin's stomach are being studied in two laboratories.

Sgt. A. G. White of the Missouri highway patrol said his investigation showed Mahurin was married eight times, but Mahurin stuck to five as the right number.

Wanted: Plans For $7,200 Dwelling Unit For Lincoln

University of Nebraska architecture students will help the Lincoln Housing Authority develop preliminary plans for a low-cost mutual housing project.

L. B. Smith, head of the architecture department, said Tuesday that 30 junior class students in architecture have entered a prize competition being sponsored by the Housing Authority.

CASH AWARDS

Two prizes of $100 each will be awarded students submitting the best plan for a site development, and for an individual dwelling unit which can be built at a maximum cost of $7,200.

The prize money was made available by R. E. Campbell, Lincoln business man and chairman of the Housing Authority.

The competition will be completed by May 1 and judged by a jury composed of Lincoln civic, business and professional leaders. The awards will be presented at a civic ceremony to be held early in May. The students will prepare their sketches under the direction of J. G. Porter, member of the architecture department faculty.

County Receives A 79-Year-Old Property Deed

A 79-year-old pre-emption certificate—old-time property deed—was received Monday by J. G. Vaughan, county register of deeds, from an Ohio man whose grandfather first purchased 80 acres of land near Raymond in 1870.

The document, now yellow with age, is in good condition.

Harry C. Hull, Springfield, Ohio, wrote Vaughan that his grandfather, Elijah Hull, settled two miles northeast of Raymond in 1870, but was forced to return to Ohio shortly afterwards because of disability incurred in the war and the threat of Pawnee Indians in the vicinity.

Verne Hedge, abstractor, said Hull probably paid about 25 cents per acre for the land. According to records in the register of deeds office, the land is now owned by Grant Martin, 709 North Twenty-fifth, who paid about $70 per acre for it last year.

Vaughan said he intended to present the document to the Raymond school district.

McCook Doctor Fined $200 On U. S. Charge

Federal Judge John W. Delehant Monday fined Dr. Edward T. Molzahn of McCook $200 on alleged violation of the federal pure food and drug act.

Dr. Molzahn entered a plea of nolo contendere to the two-count complaint.

He was charged with having sent through interstate commerce two incorrectly labeled packages of drugs from McCook to Kansas City, Mo.

Opinion

(Exclusive) The offer of a summer White House in Rhode Island was turned down for security reasons. . . . Republicans have been seen on the beach at Newport at low tide.

They're descendants of an old tribe which foraged mostly in New York until the great draught of 1932.

They've been subsisting largely on mussels and clams, eking out a bare living weaving Dewey badges and in their present ravenous condition anything could happen.

But a vacation White House should be made available somewhere . . . the one at Key West is kind of cute but not high enough for a balcony.

And you couldn't get a rocking chair on the roof without the darned thing sliding off.

Farmers Say State Roads 'Good' Shape

But Poll Reports Country Roads "Fair To Poor" Condition

About 40 farmers polled last week by Bernal R. Camp, director of information for the Farm Bureau Federation, reported the state highway department has kept roads maintained by them in "good" condition.

However, they said roads maintained by the county commissioners were generally "fair" to "poor." The group represented travel over approximately 1,650 miles of road, Camp said.

The findings of farmers bear out contentions of engineers who have appeared before legislative committee that highways must be built to adequate standards to permit satisfactory maintenance during periods of wet weather.

Arnold Joseph, Aurora, was quoted by Camp as stating, "Country roads impassable. Several cars I know of have bent running boards and fenders and at least one had its pan bent so that the rods struck the pan. Highway 34 from Hampton to Lincoln was very good and safe at any reasonable speed."

Don Morton, Beatrice, "it is rough to the pavement from my farm. Highway 77 is good to Lincoln. The streets of Lincoln are awful."

"Country roads are not very good," said Frank Bolton, Clarke. "Highways 92, fair; 81 and 34, good."

Orley W. Conkling, Stromsburg, "Our mail route is very poor. Highways 92, 81, and 34 are better than for any trip I've made to Lincoln in 25 years."

Cash Baird and Lee J. Ferris, both of Archer, commented, "Country roads are pretty good and not much more than what is to be expected for spring in roughness. The state and federal highways are in good shape."

Harry Prohaska, Palmer, termed country roads "poor." State highways are good enough for farmers, he continued.

On Murder's Skirts

By Terry Adler

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 2.

Two weeks later the newspapers carried a small item that went unnoticed by Rafferty and, in fact, by all but a few people in the university.

It stated briefly that Professor Jasper B. Hubbard, head of the Department of Biology, had died of coronary occlusion in his sleep.

Late in the afternoon, the day before he died, Hubbard had been closeted with his secretary in his inner office for over half an hour. The door was tightly closed. In spite of that, Hubbard's voice came through in a burst of unpleasant laughter. The low indistinct murmur of his secretary was broken by the sound of a fist banging on a desk.

The door opened and Hubbard's secretary walked out quickly, looking very white and very angry. She walked past the students without being aware they were there, and went straight to the door of an office down the long hall marked "D. C. Bray" and under this "Assoc. Prof."

She entered without knocking. Bray looked up from the book on his desk.

"What's wrong? Ellen? Something happen?"

Ellen Carter sank down into the chair opposite and put her head back and stared at the ceiling.

"He certainly is a rat," she finally said.

Bray looked at her and for a moment wished he were twenty years younger.

"Well," she began, "I think it must have been the dirty deal he handed Bill Griffith this afternoon that decided me. God! I don't see how he had the nerve to flunk Bill. Of all the rotten tricks—

Anyway, I went in there as courteous as you please and said very quietly but firmly that I was handing in my resignation."

"What did he say to that?"

"Well, he didn't say anything for a while. Just looked at me. After an awfully long time, he said, 'Miss Carter, just when did you reach this decision?'

"I told him I had been thinking about it for the past two weeks and that—"

"Did you say anything about —?" Bray interrupted.

"No, Dr. Bray, I said nothing at all about what you told me the Sunday evening I found you in his office. All I told him was that I was terribly homesick and had decided to go back to Cedar Rapids."

"Homesick?" Bray raised his eyebrows and smiled quizzically. It was common knowledge around the department that Ellen's family consisted only of her father, an important politician in Iowa with no great affection for his daughter. The two didn't see eye to eye on any matter at all and it had been over three years since she had last received a letter from him.

"Did that make any impression on him?" Bray asked.

"No," said Ellen with a whimsical laugh, "but what could he say?"

"Well, what did he say?"

"First he said that if that were the only reason, he wondered if I wouldn't reconsider, as it was terribly inconvenient for him to try to get a new secretary now. I told him I knew someone whom I could get to replace me."

"Fair enough. Then what?"

"All he did was laugh at first. Then he said he was afraid that wouldn't do at all. He said he couldn't tell what sort of snoopery wench she might turn out to be."

"Of course," said Bray acidly, "a too inquisitive person would definitely curtail some of his activities."

"Well," continued Ellen, "I told him that I was really very sorry, but that I was quite decided on leaving. And when? What a temper tantrum!"

"Then he suddenly quieted down and said, 'I'm afraid, Miss Carter, you'll find it impossible not to stay on here.'"

"What did the chief have up his sleeve this time?" Bray asked.

"It seems," said Ellen with a bitter smile, "that a considerable amount of money from the petty cash box has been missing, and while Professor Hubbard was not accusing me directly, he indicated that I had access to the petty cash more easily than anyone else in the department. He pointed out that the newspapers, especially the Cedar Rapids paper, would misinterpret my resignation coming at the same time that the money was reported missing. Of course, he magnanimously offered to forget the whole thing if I stayed. Disgusting, isn't it?"

"Then you're staying, Ellen?"

"I am not!" Her green eyes flashed. "I told him that it was true the story would embarrass a lot of people in Cedar Rapids who considered my father an important man. To me he was as important as a cockroach and nothing would give me more personal pleasure than letting the town in on some juicy scandal involving Lester Carter's daughter."

"How did he take that?"

"He just laughed and said, 'We'll see. That's when I walked out.'"

"Ellen, I'm glad you're going—glad you're getting away from here," Bray said quietly.

Ellen's voice softened. "I wish you could leave, too, Dr. Bray. Don't you think that if you called his bluff—?"

"Not a chance! He's got me and he knows it. I'll stay, all right. But I'm beginning to think that something's got to be done."

Bray was staring absent-mindedly into space.

"Something's got to be done," he repeated.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla.—(INS) —Frank Phillips, chairman of the Phillips Petroleum Co., has asked to be relieved of active management responsibility for the company.

Phillips, who founded the firm in 1917, wrote a letter to company President K. S. Adams, expressing confidence in the company's promising future. He congratulated the management and employee organization for current successful operations.

Members of the board of directors immediately decided to appoint Phillips honorary director and honorary chairman of the firm "in sincere recognition of the high position of respect and honor" which the board, stockholders and employees hold for him. The new title carries with it no voting or management responsibilities.

The annual stockholders meeting will be held at Bartlesville on April 26, when nominations will be made for directors of the company.

Phillips is a native Nebraskan. Born in Scotia, Neb., in 1873, he was the first white child in Greeley county.

Wide Open Hearings Promised

ON NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The American people today were promised "wide open" public hearings by the senate foreign relations committee on the North Atlantic security treaty.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) said hearings will start soon after the formal signing of the precedent-breaking alliance on April 4. He predicted they would last at least a week.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), a committee member, indicated that they might go on a lot longer. He said the committee should "seek the views of the people" before it acts. No deadlines, he told a reporter, should be permitted "to cut off hearings on this program."

Senate Ratification Needed.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), another member of the committee, said the committee should have sufficient time after signing to "satisfy ourselves and the public" about the document.

Neither committee approval nor the signing of the document at the state department April 4 would finally commit the U. S. to membership. That would have to await ratification by a two-thirds vote of the senate.

Sen. Connally and George and Hickenlooper spoke out after Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) and Donnell (R-Mo.) had demanded a delay in the scheduled signing to give the senate more time to discuss the pact.

The treaty, made public last Friday, would bind the United States, Canada and six European nations to an alliance in which an attack against one would be considered an attack against all.

It leaves to each nation the right to determine under its own constitutional processes the manner in which it would act to meet an attack.

Paul Whiteman Leaving Radio For Television

Beginning April 2

NEW YORK — (AP) — Paul Whiteman, too, has decided to switch to television. He's preparing a series for ABC, the network of which he is vice-president in charge of music.

Paul's last radio program, concluded in the fall, was "On Stage America," a musical variety with guests. His new television show will be called "TV Teen Club."

Whiteman plans to use young talent for an hour each Saturday night from 9 to 10 opening April 2. It will originate from Philadelphia for the east coast Video network. On April 16 the midwest network and other stations will be added by means of delayed relays from filmed recordings.

Signed Blank Check Filed With Tax Is Sent Back To Nurse

LOS ANGELES — (AP)—Nurse Marie J. George has her own ideas about filing income tax returns—she just sent along a signed blank check with the tax form.

Also enclosed was a note reading: "I figure I do not owe additional tax. However, in order to avoid a penalty, I'm enclosing a blank check. Please advise." Harry C. Westover, collector of internal revenue, did advise, he disclosed yesterday. He notified Miss George that of $292 she paid in taxes last year, $201.86 would be refunded. Yes, she got the check back too—still blank.

Nebraska's Corn Acreage Same As Last Year's Figure

Slight Drop In Plantings Oats Crop

Production To Remain High

Nebraska farmers intend to plant about the same acreage of spring crops as was planted last year, according to a report made by State Director of Agriculture Rufus M. Howard Tuesday.

"With surpluses of some crops now becoming apparent, acreages will have a bearing on prices if average or above average yields are obtained," Howard said. "The survey shows that production will be continued on a high level."

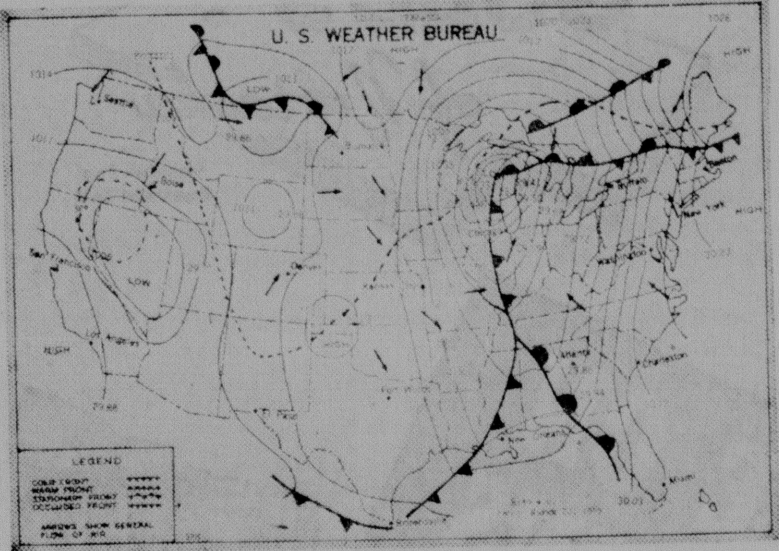

Prospective plantings of corn, the major crop in Nebraska, is indicated at 7,048,000 acres, or the same acreage planted a year ago, according to the survey. The corn acreage has been declining in the state since 1944. Howard said farmers have found that it is necessary to rotate the corn ground to a small grain crop in order to control corn rootworm. The smaller pig crops which Nebraska has produced has reduced some what the need for corn, he stated.

Weather Top Problem.

As for other spring crop planting, the chief problem farmers face in carrying out their plans is the weather. Howard stated that so far it has not been possible to do much field work except in the western part of the state. Some corn remains to be husked, and drying weather will be needed before fields can be worked for seeding small grains.

It is possible that the acreage of oats and barley will not be realized because of late seedings, Howard said, which farmers feel reduces the yield of these crops.

He stated that reports indicate wheat in the state is in average condition. A larger acreage of winter wheat, a total of 4,507,000 acres, was planted in the fall of 1948 than was seeded in the previous year. Most of this increase was in the south central and southeastern part of the state where planting conditions in the fall of 1947 were decidedly unfavorable because of dry weather, Howard stated.

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—The storm that was over Oklahoma yesterday morning is central over Wisconsin on this map. Its movement was attended by general rains in the central states and some sleet occurred on the northwestern edge of the storm. Precipitation measured over an inch in the central Gulf states and the lower Mississippi valley and over 2 inches on the Alabama and extreme northwest Florida coasts. Rainfall was heavy also in extreme northwestern Missouri, with 1.29 inches at St. Joseph, Mo. Strong northwesterly winds have occurred west of the storm center, with colder weather, but the temperature drop was generally small. Temperatures below 20 occurred Tuesday morning in northern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota. Day temperatures were considerably lower, however, on Monday than on the previous day in Nebraska and some neighboring states.

Improved conditions now indicate there will be less abandonment in Nebraska than last year, which will result in a smaller acreage of land being available for other crops.

Farmers intend to plant a smaller acreage of oats this year with the indicated acreage at 2,572,000 or 93 per cent of the 2,766,000 acres planted last year, the survey indicated. Part of the acreage in the south central and southeastern parts of the state that was devoted to oats last year was planted to winter wheat this year.

The intended barley acreage is estimated at 493,000 acres as compared with 560,000 acres a year earlier. Winter wheat was seeded rather heavily in the central part of the state which ordinarily plants a major part of the state's spring barley.

Sorghums show an increase in acreage this year with farmers showing an intention to plant 394,000 acres compared with 379,000 acres planted last year.

Same Potato Acreage.

The planted potato acreage in Nebraska as shown by the survey would give the state 34,000 acres this year or the same as planted a year ago. A small decrease in acreage in the central part of the state, the early commercial area, was offset by an increase in acreage indicated for the panhandle.

The dry beet acreage now is indicated at 21,000 acres to be planted this spring, an increase of seven per cent over the 83,000 acres planted last year.

"This reflects to a certain extent the low level of our sugar beet acreage," Howard said, "and also indicates the dry beet crop was a profitable one last year both from the standpoint of return per acre and the savings from a reduction of labor output."

Sugar beet acreage has declined in recent years with the crop dropping to 55,000 acres last year with prospects now that this year's crop will be substantially the same.

Farmers intend to harvest more hay this year. The intended acreage of all hay for harvest totals 4,486,000 acres compared with 4,272,000 acres harvested a year earlier.

There will be an effort on the part of farmers to build up as large a supply of hay as possible in order to replace their supply which has been greatly reduced this year because of the very heavy feed crop. "This year's crop will be substantially the same," Howard stated. An early season growth generally results in good yields.

"Moisture supplies are generally good over all of the state," Howard said, "and the crop is not suffering and most of it has a good supply of sub-soil moisture reserve. The state could meet the large production which were established last year for most of the crop if weather conditions are normal throughout the year."

Red Cross To Check Indian Relief Needs

... In Nebraska, Dakotas

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Red Cross has been asked to co-ordinate emergency relief work among Indians in Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Secretary of the Interior Krug asked that Red Cross workers visit the Winnebago reservation in Nebraska and reservations in North and South Dakota, including Pine Ridge, to decide how much help is needed for how long.

The areas were severely stricken by last winter's blizzards.

Red Cross workers left Omaha Sunday to survey the reservations. The organization announced it was taking immediate steps to expand its aid to Indians.

$45,000 Aid Fund.

The Indian service diverted $45,000 from its welfare fund last December to aid Indians in the Dakota areas following an early fall storm.

Reservation superintendents in the area later were authorized to use funds from available balances for relief work. Krug said that up to March 5, $185,500 of such funds had been allotted to the three North Dakota reservations, and $280,000 to the five reservations in South Dakota.

The Red Cross also has contributed some emergency aid on a local basis.

Jeeps From Alaska Arrive In Hastings

HASTINGS, Neb.—(AP)—The Aleutico corporation of Hastings has started to bring back some of the 200 war surplus jeeps it acquired on Shemya island, Alaska.

Six of the jeeps have arrived here after traveling 6,000 miles without touching their wheels to the ground.

The jeeps were shipped by barge to Seattle and transported the rest of the way on a truck. The land trip, with Ted Gray of Hastings as driver, took eight days.

Shemya island is only 800 miles from Japan and was the farthest outpost commanded by American troops during the war.

Old army mattresses were packed around the jeeps to protect them on the long trip. Officers of Aleutico include George Rullman, John Hueske, Claron Kerr and Ralph Blackburn, all of Hastings.

Fee Controversy

OMAHA—(AP)—The Nebraska Used Car Dealers association thinks if filling stations and garages are going to sell cars "they should pay the same fees as we do." This explanation was given by Ray Hayward of Omaha, president of the association, as he announced opening of a campaign against unlicensed and unbonded car dealers.

Doctor Delivers Baby Under Odd Circumstances

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—(AP)—Dr. Earl Farnsworth has delivered hundreds of babies but none under more unusual circumstances than during a recent vacation trip to Mexico.

Back home after his trip, the Grand Island physician told of delivering the baby in the toilet of a third class railroad coach.

Dr. Farnsworth said he was called out of the dining car to take charge. The coach was packed with men, women, children, chickens and pigs. All joined in the din every time the prospective mother cried out, the doctor said.

At the doctor's suggestion, the baby girl was named "Americano." That constituted the doctor's "fee."

It was the mother's third child but the first to be born with a doctor in attendance.

Span Collapse Possibly Due To Sharp Thaw

... Says Engineer

FALLS CITY, Neb.—(AP)—A sharp thaw may have caused the bridge collapse which resulted in the death of two men near Falls City yesterday, according to County Engineer Ben Dale of Falls City.

Dale said he believes the thawing pushed the top of the supporting wall of the bridge over into the creek, allowing the span to crash.

Dale said the 20-foot bridge was considered the best span on the Falls City-Salem road.

The deaths of the two truckers, Elmer E. Fouraker, 59, and James F. Wittwer, 49, both of Salem, boosted to 29 the number of traffic deaths in Nebraska this year. Their truck plunged into the creek and caught fire. The men were burned to death.

Wittwer, who operated a filling station at Salem, was the father of eight children, while Fouraker had five children.

Union Pacific Will Be Better Prepared For Future Blizzards

OMAHA—(AP)—Any repetition of the recent winter blizzards will find the Union Pacific railroad better prepared.

Arthur E. Stoddard, president of the road, said plans for combating future blizzards include huddles with manufacturers on some Union Pacific ideas for new snow removal machinery.

The railroad had protection at all points the past winter, he said, "but not quite enough."

"We never expect to have the railroad tied up again," Stoddard added.

Gas Hearing Moves Ahead

... $100,000,000 Project

OMAHA—(AP)—A federal power commission hearing on a proposal to run a gas pipeline from the Gulf coast to Keokuk, Ia., is under way today.

The hearing opened originally in Washington, moved to Omaha last week. Yesterday it moved from the Omaha postoffice to the Douglas county courthouse to make room for a federal grand jury.

The Trunkline Gas Supply company, with offices in San Francisco, is seeking FPC permission to run a 768 miles of 26 inch pipeline from oilfields along the Texas-Louisiana Gulf coast to Keokuk.

'Prolific' Source.

The $100,000,000 project, it is planned, would provide 250,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily to the Northern Natural Gas company of Omaha and another 100,000,000 cubic feet to the Michigan Pipeline company.

FPC Attorney Joseph Weller of Washington said two points must be established before federal approval is given. Trunkline must establish that it can supply gas in the quantities proposed and assure the FPC that the pipeline will be built. Northern Natural, in turn must give evidence that it has a market for the extra gas, he said.

Ralph K. Davies, president of the Trunkline company, was in Omaha to testify. He called. He said the proposed line "would tap the most prolific gas source in the United States."

Scottsbluff Opens Campaign Against Defective Vehicles

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—(AP)—Police gave 29 drivers tickets here Monday in a drive against defective motor vehicles. Police Chief Marvin Nelson said 105 automobiles and 10 trucks were stopped. The most frequent defect was improper lights.

Solons Hear Of Huge School Land Profits

Reaped By Non-Farming Lease Holders: Action Delayed On Bill To Sell Land

By ARCH DONOVAN.

The sordid story of bureaucratic and political mismanagement over the years of millions of acres of Nebraska land held as a trust for the school children of the state was paraded before a legislative committee again Monday.

The hearing was on the proposal in LB 474 to sell the 1,633,310 acres at not less than double the present appraised value, invest the proceeds in government bonds and put the land on the tax rolls. No action was taken by the committee when the hearing closed after 6 p. m.

No Action On Appraisal.

Also heard and action deferred was LB 490 which would change the present method of classifying and appraising the school lands.

The senate chamber was jammed with spectators and witnesses, about 90 per cent of them being lease holders. The holders of leases opposed both bills. R. B. Steele, Kimball, conducted the opposition to both bills.

Amazing were the stories recounted by the witnesses on both sides.

Examples:

Charles Greene of Cheyenne county testified that he had built $20,000 worth of building on seven acres of leased land while he owns five deeded sections adjoining which he operates.

Ole Olson, Banner county, has $150,000 worth of improvements on leased school land including a 150,000 bushel elevator.

Sen. Ray Babcock said he personally knew of 25 leased sections in Banner, Kimball and Chey-bor boy paid over twice as much to rent a half section of poorer land than the Iowa corporation pays for a full section of school land.

Sen. Ray Babcock in summing up the opposition to the bill questioned the figures of witnesses and said returns estimated from bonds, if the land were sold, was too high. He gave as his opinion that it was not good judgment to sell the land and that the safeguards on investments made by this legislature could be changed by the next.

Cite Bad Investments.

Bad cash investments by boards in the past were recalled, and the tax instituted to make up the loss to the schools.

Questioned as to whether he favored giving leases to persons other than the actual operators, Sen. Babcock answered sharply, "No."

"I thought we changed the law in 1947 to keep out non-resident lease holders," he said. "That was a fizzle we made in a situation we all know is bad."

Sen. Schroeder said that the records show 60 per cent of the land is in the hands of speculators, which he explained meant that that much was appraised too low.

"We are giving a perpetual lease to the royal families of the west, the blue bloods of the wheat and cattle ranches," he said. "We are sanctioning and perpetuating tenant farming."

State Scandal.

Answering the statements of opponents of the bill that land is the most desirable investment, Sen. Schroeder said that to carry out that theory, all money accumulated in the school and veterans funds should be used to buy land.

"Then the state would own the land to be worked by tenants and we would have a socialist state," he asserted. "This is a state scandal. Let's get rid of this trafficking in leases by selling the land to the highest bidder and stop having it mined by tenants."

"Year after year, generation after generation these leases have been held by these same royal families. We must decide whether we want a state of tenants or owner-operator farmers. I hope you will vote out this bill so that we can at least amend it to bar these out of state lease holders."

Robert Van Pelt, representing the state school boards association, opposed the bill pointing out that the "worst pages in history of the state" were in 1880 and 1890 when school lands were being sold to those with "political connections."

Non-Partisan Board.

"I would rather put up with the situation we now have than sell," he continued, expressing the belief that the school fund, "now has good collateral."

Dr. Archer L. Burnham, executive secretary of the Nebraska Education association urged that a non-partisan, unbiased board be established as the best possible way to get fair returns for the schools from the land.

Sen. Cretsinger, introducer of the bill, said that if the land could be sold immediately and the money invested in U. S. bonds it would bring in more revenue than at present, plus the saving in administration. He said in addition the taxes on the land would bring in an added $314,000 to the counties, schools and state.

Sen. Cretsinger said the 1948 return from leases was $860,000, the highest on record, and that it was an increase of $300,000 over 1947. He blamed this increase for the dissatisfaction of the leaseholders with administration of the fund.

Don L. Ballard, Businessman At Wahoo, Is Dead

WAHOO, Neb.—(AP)—Don L. Ballard, Wahoo businessman, died in a Lincoln hospital Monday, after being in ill health for several months.

Ballard, about 52, had owned and operated the Gamble store in Wahoo for four years.

Survivors include his widow, Bertha; a daughter, Mrs. Art Bern of Colon, and a son, Robert, a member of the coast guard.

Nebraskans Attack Aid Program For Dependent Children

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A member of congress and a Catholic clergyman, both from Nebraska, told a house committee today that federal aid for dependent children makes for divorces and broken homes.

"We hear well-founded complaints about mothers who call up the officers of local agencies to ask how much they could get if they divorced their husbands," said the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John O'Grady, of Omaha, secretary of the national conference of Catholic charities.

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb.), a committee member, put in: "In other words, the family institution would be dissolved for so many pieces of silver."

Msgr. O'Grady testified at a hearing before the house ways and means committee on President Truman's proposed social security program. He said:

"The church has expended millions of dollars in developing facilities for child care. Government has nothing to gain and everything to lose by discontinuing the use of these facilities and developing purely governmental programs."

Edward Arnold, Wife Divorced

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Mrs. Olive Arnold, 54, has obtained a divorce from actor Edward Arnold, 58, charging desertion and cruelty.

The former voice teacher was granted an interlocutory decree yesterday after the court approved a financial settlement. Under it, Mrs. Arnold is to receive their home, $10,000 and $1,000 per month.

Mrs. Arnold did not mention in the action the charge made in her original separate maintenance suit that Arnold boasted of "amorous pursuits" with other women.

"When I asked him why he was away so much," she told the court, "he said it was part of his publicity."

Paul White, Lincoln attorney representing taxpayers in the western part of the state, quoted figures from 29 leases in 29 counties showing that the lease holders by sub-leasing were getting $96,580 profit on land appraised at $113,928.

More than 30 witnesses appeared for and against the two bills.

MISS SYLVIA NILSEN

This seems to be "visitors' week" along Greek letter row.—In town since Sunday has been Miss Sylvia Nilsen of Seattle, Wash., national traveling secretary of Delta Delta Delta sorority, who will remain here until Friday as a guest at the chapter house on the Nebraska campus.

Miss Nilsen is one of the younger national officers.—She was graduated last June from the University of Washington where, in addition to her membership in Delta Delta Delta, she is a Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board. She also is a member of Totem club, and served as executive chairman of the Association of Women Students. Miss Nilsen was the recipient of the highest honor bestowed upon women at the University of Washington when she received the AWS scholarship and activities plaque.

Nebraska Women's Club Convention

Over one thousand members representing one hundred fifty clubs in the state are expected to attend the fifty-third annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, at Norfolk. Registration will open Wednesday afternoon at the Hotel Waldorf, followed by the pre-convention dinner at which Mrs. Dwight Griswold of Gordon, wife of the former Nebraska governor, will be speaker.

The convention will open Thursday morning with committee and officers' reports, introduction of honor guests and officers, nomination of delegates to the general federation convention, and an address by Dr. Victor P. Morey, Wayne State Teachers college president.

Speakers Thursday afternoon are Dr. Otto G. Holberg, University of Nebraska, who is to talk on, "Build Your Community," and Gov. Val Peterson, whose subject is, "What The Development of the Missouri River Basin Means to the Midwest." The afternoon program will close with a tour of the Norfolk state hospital.

Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck, Richmond, Va., general foundation president, will speak on, "Our Friends in the Orient," at the convention banquet Thursday evening, and Ralph Raikes, Ashland, is to give an illustrated lecture on his recent tour of Europe. The convention ends Friday.

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Blair, 626 South Twelfth street, are today announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Willa Gifford, to Lieut. William B. Schnase, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Schnase.

The wedding will be an event of April, and will be solemnized at the chapel at Maxwell air force base, Montgomery, Ala., where Lieut. Schnase is stationed. Lieut. Schnase is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

NOT BREATH-TAKING— BUT INTERESTING

MAYBE OUR RADAR SET was out of order today—or it could be that nothing very startling is going on about town—Any hopes we might have for any exciting news today went a-glimmering as time glided by.—But we did learn a few things that will be of interest if not breath-taking—

NEBRASKANS HAVE A HABIT of breaking into the literary field, it would seem.—Take the current issue of McCall's, for instance—in it you will find a story with the title "A Box of Apples"—it's author, Jean Potts. Now Miss Potts' Nebraska home is St. Paul, and she was graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan university in the very late thirties—

HAD ROLL CALL FOR some of the travelers, but found that the majority of them still are away

MRS. ROBERT P. HARRINGTON

Before her marriage of Friday evening, March 11, at the home of her parents, Mrs. Robert Patrick Harrington was Miss Leona Mae Kittrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil H. Kittrell. Mr. Harrington, the son of Mrs. James Harrington and the late Mr. Harrington, are residing in Lincoln where the bridegroom is a senior at the University of Nebraska.

Let The Quips Fall Where They May—

BY MRS. RALPH AYER.

A RAINY afternoon and an art exhibit are by means synonymous. But on a dull day you can see where one might off-set the other—that is—if it's pretty gray and drab overhead, and uncomfortable underfoot the art gallery is the place to go to get a lift, especially if there is a goodly crowd gathered and if—as is often the case—the crowd is at all vocal. Sauntering around from picture to picture and group to group we discovered that the layman has ideas of his own concerning art.

There was No. 9, in the catalogue, for example. The picture was being studied by a couple, and the man burst out with—

"Bowling! Now here is something I can understand!"

"Bowling," his wife echoed weakly.—"Why, I thought it was a railroad station."

And not far away you heard a woman mumbling—

"How do they know which way to hang things like this?"

A little family discussion between a man and his wife had to do with the pictures "Tower of Babel," and "Fertility."

"Personally," said the man, "I don't want to look at any 'Tower of Babel' when I get up in the morning. If I have to look at anything, I'll look at 'Fertility.'"

"Now there," said a woman standing in front of a picture the catalogue labelled 'No. 79,' "whoever did that picture doesn't know a thing about flower arrangements. Just look at that cross line."

A little weary with the whole thing was the rather bellicent looking lady who gazed thoughtfully at No. 102.—She turned away with the comment—"Looks like a journey into a nightmare to me."

"And there was the man, not too interested, who said casually in passing—

"So stars are black now, are they?"

An entire family paused before No. 18, while the parents read the placard by the picture.—After they had finished their 'teen-age son said:

"Yeah, but what IS it?"

One conservative matron to another—

"Never saw a real one and enjoyed seeing it"—the reference was to "Mt. Nebo," a Grandma Moses painting. That the painting was authentic, however, was emphasized by the lady when she added—"It looks just like the photographs of her work."

Herding a number of small fry through the galleries, a harried mother stopped before "Bread and the City," to ponder—

"Well, is that bread or smoke?"

Conversation piece—by two feminine gallery visitors—

—and will be away until mid-April—so we'll save them for some rainy day—

SPENDING SEVERAL DAYS in Lincoln are Mrs. Laura D. Lampert and her daughter, Ann, of Salt Lake City, who are the house guests of Mrs. Lampert's mother, Mrs. Walter J. Gardner.

SOME NEWS CAME FROM DOWN Kansas way that will interest the members of the bib and crib set, and their elders.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loomis of Lawrence, Kas., announce the birth of a daughter, Linda Kay, on Sunday, March 20. Mrs. Loomis is the former Margie George of Omaha. Linda Kay's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. Myron Loomis of Lincoln. Her father, incidentally, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and now is working on his Ph.D., at the University of Kansas.

HEAR THAT JOHN UPSON will leave Thursday after spending two weeks with his uncle, Allen A. Field and Mrs. Field, and his aunt, Miss Kate Field. Mr. Upson leaves Lincoln to go to New York City, and then to Florence, Italy, where he will take graduate work at the University of Florence.

AND DID YOU KNOW that the Harry Cunninghams—Mr. and Mrs.—are back in Lincoln to stay? Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, now the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Davis, have returned from Washington, D. C., to reside in Lincoln after an absence of a number of years during which Mr. Cunningham has been in almost every nook and corner of the world in the interests of the United States government.

ON THE ARRIVALS LIST for Friday will be Philip Aitken, jr., who will come from Lawrenceville school, where he is a junior, to spend a week's spring holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Aitken.

Music Group Celebrates Anniversary

In observance of the thirty-fifth anniversary of Kappa chapter at the University of Nebraska, members of Sigma Alpha Iota national music sorority entertained at a banquet last Friday evening at the Student Union.

Members of the active chapter, pledge class, alumnae group and patronesses were seated at long tables arranged with tall white tapers and bouquets of red roses and white stock. Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Jack Snider who introduced the following speakers: Ila Faye Ullstrom, Mrs. Vernon Forbes and Janice Liljedahl.

Participating in the musical program were Kathleen Maharry, pianist, Ila Faye Ullstrom, soprano, and Kathleen Forbes, violinist.

In charge of arrangements for the banquet were Mrs. Kenneth Ekwall, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Fred Bodie, Mrs. Don Huffman, assisted by Mrs. Fred Bodie, Mrs. Don Huffman and Mrs. Norman Todenhoff.

MRS. VERNE WILSON MCKINNEY

Arriving in Lincoln later this week will be Mrs. Verne Wilson McKinney of Los Angeles, national president of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, who will attend the sorority's "state week" celebration over the week-end of March 25.

Mrs. McKinney will be the guest speaker at the Alpha Omicron Pi banquet on Friday evening at Hotel Cornhusker, and on Saturday she will be the honored guest at a tea at the governor's mansion. Nebraska's first lady, Mrs. Val Peterson, is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Bridal Courtesy

Honoring Miss Donna Todd, who will become the bride of Robert S. Lawrence of Chicago, Ill., on Sunday, April 1, Mrs. R. H. Cozad and Mrs. Lee Bingham entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Cozad. A one-

Approve Bill Taking Sting Out Of Corrupt Practices Act

... Measure Reducing Penalties Sent To Floor

In its last scheduled meeting, the legislature's judiciary committee Monday approved its bill lowering the penalties under the corrupt practices act.

If passed by the legislature, the bill would correct a mistake made in the 1915 revision of the state laws, Attorney General James Anderson told the committee.

As originally passed, the law required revocation of a corporation's charter the second time it was convicted of donating to political campaigns. The revision made the law read "on first offense," Anderson said.

Tells of Need.

"This makes it practically impossible to get a conviction with so strong a penalty," Anderson declared.

Under the bill, which the judiciary committee introduced for Anderson, the penalties would be: $100 to $1,000 fine on first offense; $500 to $2,000, and charter revocation, for second. The present law calls for $1,000 and revocation on first offense, $2,000 on second.

Killed by the senators was LB 476 permitting the state trusts, insurance companies, administrators and other funds to invest in savings, building and loan associations.

Allow Commissions.

Opponents of the bill charged that it was aimed at letting brokers make commissions in handling such shares. Savings, building and loan organizations are intended for the investment of individuals, they added.

Advanced to general file was LB 493, broadening the title of the 1947 financial responsibility act to conform with the act itself.

The committee also killed LB 516, setting up a new garnishment procedure. The measure will be

Alliance Child Kicked By Horse

ALLIANCE, Neb. — (AP) — Seven-year-old Charles Kraupie was in a hospital here today with injuries suffered when he was kicked by a horse.

The lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kraupie who live on a farm near Northport, received a fractured skull and fractures of lower and upper jaws in the accident Sunday.

The boy's doctor said the boy, while dismounting, struck the horse on the heels with a lariat.

Concrete Wearing Out

OMAHA — (AP) — Something is "obviously wrong" in the new Dodge street paving here, three federal experts decided after looking over the $358,000 project here Monday. They said the concrete is showing "excessive wear" but were not able to say just what is wrong. They said they were certain there had been no deliberate attempt to short-change the city, state and federal governments on the work.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Foster Case Dismissed

PROSECUTOR DROPS RAPE CHARGE;
ON LACK OF SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE

ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—(AP)—A charge of forcible rape against Vincent Lee Foster, 22, Omaha welterweight fighter was dismissed Monday by Prosecutor O. R. Newcomer.

The prosecutor said he did not have sufficient evidence to support the charge.

Foster, who gave his address as Chicago, had been scheduled for a preliminary hearing Tuesday. He was arrested here Feb. 7 on a complaint signed by a 22-year-old Kansas City woman. He has been free under $10,000 bond.

Newcomer said a report by the physician who examined the woman did not contain enough evidence. A conviction could not be obtained on the woman's story, he added.

Foster denied attacking the woman.

A welterweight championship fight between Ray "Sugar" Robinson, current titleholder, and Foster has been proposed by Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun. They have announced a $100,000 offer to Robinson to defend his crown, probably in a Chicago ball park in June.

ROBINSON FRIENDS.

Jack Hurley, Foster's manager, is an old associate of Schoenwald and Begun.

Robinson said he would give his answer to Schoenwald and Begun "in a few weeks." But some experts believe that a statement might be made after he talks things over with Joe Louis, Arthur Wirtz and James Norris, Wednesday afternoon.

Louis and Robinson are good friends and it is believed in some quarters that Robinson might try to meet the Foster date as a favor to Louis's International Boxing club.

SEEK TITLE MATCH.

Sugar Ray is in Chicago to fight Bobby Lee of Baltimore in a non-title 10-rounder at Chicago stadium Friday night.

However the other two rivals for ring prominence are also entering in the Robinson picture. The 20th Century Sporting club is said to want Robinson to fight the winner of the Kid Gavilan, Ike Williams fight.

The Tournament of Champions is bidding for Robinson to meet Marcel Cerdan in a middleweight title bout.

Capital City Net Club

Plans Apr. 1 Opening

Tennis courts at the Capital City Tennis club are expected to open April 1 if weather permits. Mark Bullock reported Monday at the annual meeting at the YMCA.

Improvements to be made at the courts by the city were announced by Bryan Littrell. He told of plans to modernize and repaint the shelter house, install an outdoor drinking fountain and repair the driveway.

June Greer told of her trip to the national junior girls tennis championships at Miami, Fla.

Vern Hingate is heading a membership drive. Prospective members are urged to contact John Burley at 1740 Harwood street.

Members also voted on court rules for the coming season.

Eastern NCAA Play Narrows In Semi's

NEW YORK—(AP)—Kentucky and Illinois, two teams with a tremendous scoring punch, will clash at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night for the Eastern NCAA basketball title.

Their immediate aim will be to gain the right to test their attack against the nation's No. 1 collegiate defense in the championship game with Oklahoma A. and M., the western victor, at Seattle, Wash., Saturday night. The Aggies won out last Saturday in Kansas City.

The defending champion Wildcats and the Illini cracked the Garden's upset jinx and scored expected semifinal victories Monday night before a near-sellout crowd of 18,051.

Kentucky, rebounding from a slump that saw it bow to Chicago Loyola in the National Invitation last week, rolled over Villanova with a record-breaking 85-72 score.

Illinois' Big Nine champions staged a desperate spurt in the final minutes to turn back Yale, the Ivy league titlist, 71-67.

In triumphing, the two big, poised teams enlarged upon offensive records that rate with the best in the country. Illinois averaged 69.5 points for the season and Kentucky 68.2.

Three NCAA records went by the boards when the Wildcats, with All-American Alex Groza and young Jim Lane in standout roles, poured the pressure on Villanova.

Rockets Save Cage Strength

... FOR NEXT SEASON

BY GEORGE MILLER
Star Sports Staff Member

Want to hear of a good bet for the 1950 Class A basketball championship?

The answer is Northeast. If the name sounds familiar, recall that Northeast took home its first state title three days ago. And the Rockets will be off to a good start to repeat the trick if nothing deprives Coach Dawdy Hawkins of the raft of players he expects back next year.

The NE mentor is forced to admit that he will be starting the 1949-50 campaign with best group of returning players he has ever received.

When you consider that the Rockets won the state title this year and lost in the finals the year before, you realize that Coach Hawkins must have definite cause to commit himself.

The two chief reasons for such optimism at this early date are Center Paul Fredstrom and Guard Jack Woods. Both were regular members of this season's champions.

Another reason is the assurance that next year's squad will have more overall height.

Fredstrom, sophomore center, led the Northeast team in scoring throughout the season and in tourney games. The tall (6-3½) pivot man was able to hold his own against the best in the state. He climaxed the season with an artful 12-point performance against Hastings' Ted Connor in the state finals.

Big Paul will rank among leaders for all-state notice this year despite his lack of experience. He scored at the rate of 11.05 points per game this season in tallying 243 points during Northeast's 22-game season.

VALUABLE MAN.

Woods, junior guard, is listed by Hawkins as the most valuable member of the Rocket squad. He directed Northeast offensive patterns this season and will be back with an added year of seasoning for more of the same in '49-'50.

Jumping Jack scored 122 points, hitting a fast pace in tourney play after a mid-season slump during which he could get only six points in four games. It was Woods' shot that sent the Rockets ahead of Hastings in the hectic closing minutes of the state finals.

There will be three vacancies to fill in the NE starting five. Big John Neiderhaus, workhorse guard, whose rebounding during tourney play was an invaluable help, will be difficult to replace.

FORWARD LOSSES. The absence of Forwards Scottie Willoughby and Ron Butler will be just as troublesome. This scrappy pair finished second and third in season scoring behind Fredstrom. Both had the happy

2 Top Boxers Battle

Mason, Ferguson Post Impressive Ring Records

THE future of two promising boxers will be at stake Wednesday night, when Lincoln's Wiley Ferguson and Ernie Mason battle in the main event at the fair grounds.

"The Lincoln Wildman" will be ridding his string of 22 straight victories. Mason must get by Ferguson in order to maintain his steady record in the heavy ranks.

If Mason beats Ferguson, he will headline a match in Council Bluffs with Whitey Peterson on March 28. Mason will carry into the ring a record of 18 wins and 2 losses in professional competition.

Before turning pro, Mason won the national Golden Gloves title in 1946 and 1947 and compiled a record of only one loss in 30 amateur fights.

HANDSOME HEAVY.

The Washington, D. C., battler has been acclaimed by many experts as the most handsome heavyweight in the game today. He works as a model in Hollywood in his spare time, and has appeared in several motion pictures.

One of Mason's defeats was at the hands of Fidel Arcega, heavyweight champion of Spain. Mason lost this one after leading on points after seven rounds.

In other bouts on the biggest fight program in Lincoln history, Wiley Peterson will get warmed up for his March 28th appearance in Council Bluffs by testing Bill Hadley, Los Angeles.

MOTLEY COMES BACK.

James Motley, Alliance Golden Glove champ, will try for a comeback by taking on Eugene Brown, Omaha. Motley who lost by a K.O. to Ferguson in Omaha last January, will be trying for a comeback when he takes on Brown.

Brown who went to the quarter-finals of the Chicago Golden Gloves, will be making his professional debut.

Leonard Craig, Kansas City will mix it up with Kid Chocolate, New York City, in the middleweight attraction on Wednesday night's fight card.

8-ROUND FEATURE. Paddy O'Leary, veteran performer from Denver, will test Red McNally, Miami in a lightweight scrap. O'Leary will be trying for a ring comeback after a long layoff.

The Ferguson-Mason scrap is slated to go eight rounds. The Peterson-Hadley and Craig and Chocolate matches are scheduled for six rounds. The other two matches are four-round affairs.

Duck Hearing Set April 25 By U. S. Board

Nebraska hunters will hear about the national program for migratory waterfowl April 25, when a public hearing on ducks will be held by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service.

Paul Gilbert, secretary of the state game commission, announced plans for the hearing Monday. He said that Nebraskans will have a chance to present their troubles and questions to the federal representatives at the hearing.

Representatives from all wildlife clubs in the state will be invited to attend the hearing. Among national and regional officials who will be present are Dr. Clarence Cottam, acting director, Washington, D. C.; Dan H. Janzen, regional director; Theodore S. Kibbe, assistant regional director; Floyd H. Davis, regional supervisor of game management, all of Minneapolis, Minn.

promising soph from Chicago; Don Strasheim of Kimball, who started against Oregon State last fall, and Walt Spellman of Omaha, up from the center ranks.

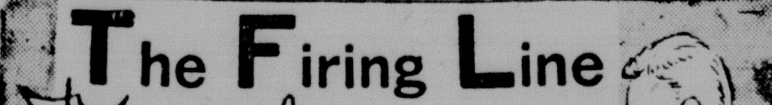

NEED PASSER. Glassford's search for a leading passer has been stymied by the slippery environment.

About the weather? "We have too much to do to stop working because of the weather," commented the hard-fibered Husker tutor. "We're liable to bump into similar weather next fall."

TRENTON, N. J.—Tami Mauriello, 198, Bronx, N. Y., stopped Willie Brown, 188, New York, (J).

The Firing Line

Norris Anderson
SPORTS EDITOR,
THE STAR

WILEY FERGUSON of Lincoln, main-eventer in Adam Krieger's big boxing show at the fairgrounds Wednesday, also is a mean distance runner. The 28-year-old slugger worked out with the Cornhusker track team Saturday. Running against Bill Mountford, state prep mile record-holder, he whipped the two-mile route in 10:55. Like Esref (The Tireless Turk) of the NU cinder team, a mere two miles is just a warm-up for Wiley. After finishing the race, he jogged for three miles more. Bill Glassford, the new Husker gridmaster, will be guest speaker at a banquet for 14 northeast Nebraska towns at Oakland May 10.

Towns represented will be Lyons, Decatur, Tekamah, Craig, Uehling, Hooper, Scribner, West Point, Beemer, Wisner, Pender, Bancroft, Rosalie, Oakland and Walthill. Harry Good, basketball tutor, and track mentor Ed Weir will also attend. Glassford, a ready greeter, made a host of friends during the state high school tourney last week. No coach ever deserved a state title more than Northeast's Dawdy Hawkins. In his three years at the Rocket helm, Dawdy's teams have produced a steady stream of upsets and spectacular rallies.

A year ago, an unheralded Rocket team exploded into the state finals with an amazing upset of touted Boys Town. This year, in three of the hardest-wrought victories in tournament history, the Rockets finally won the championship. Minus most of last year's stars, Hawkins expected to do much when the current season started. All he did was pile up a seasonal record of 10-3 and romp into a state championship. The chap is a builder, an inspirational leader (witness all those last-second Rocket victories) and, above all, a fine coach. Saddest fellow in all captivity Saturday night was that staunch Northeast rooster, George Lemon, who was in Denver at a convention. It has always been George's custom to toss an open house after outstanding Northeast athletic achievements. A round of applause too for a stellar tourney performance by Director Vernon Forbes' fine Northeast band.

STEVE MCGILL, the sturdy Holy Name junior, is Husker Joe McGillis' kid brother. Both are sons of Pat, the old wrestler and present-day promoter. Hastings' Ted Connor and Grand Island's Bobby Reynolds, two of the state's most desirable football products, are still "undecided" about their choice of college. Our word came from two sources close to the brilliant twosome—Bill (Hastings Tribune) Madden and Harold (Grand Island Independent) Hartley.

Thornton Jenkins, ex-Missouri star and present wheelhorse for the Denver Chevrolet team, had words of high praise for Wesleyan's Del Miller after his team edged the Plainsmen in the recent National A.A.U. meet at Denver. Jenkins said the ex-College View ace was more adept at faking with the ball than when Big Seven performer he'd ever faced. Jimmy Cannon, Creighton Prep's prize shotsmith, has been awarded a scholarship to St. Louis U. by Coach Eddie Hickey. Eddie lured one of his present Billiken stars, Ed Scott (ex-St. Joseph's of Atkinson), from the 1947 state tourney.

Adna Dobson, the ex-Husker griddier, is currently plying his skill at another sport. Dobbie and his wife, the former Jane Bell of York, are skiing at Sun Valley. Phog Allen, Kansas basketball coach, is campaigning for a 20,000-seating-capacity arena in Lawrence. A new fieldhouse has already been approved at Kansas State, so Phog features his school can afford one, too. N. M. Ashburn, father of Richie, Philadelphia Phillies "rookie of the year" from Tilden, Neb., is attending spring camp with his son at Clearwater, Fla. Ashburn, sr., and Mrs. Ashburn rent a big house in Philadelphia during the season and take in unmarried players "as part of the family." He also works for a radio station that broadcasts Phillies' games.

Escapes Caught In Iowa To Be Returned Here ... To State Hospital

Dr. F. L. Spradling, superintendent of Lincoln state hospital, said two men being held at Independence, Ia., would be returned to the hospital this week.

The men are Joseph Felix Code, 32, Elmhurst, Ill., and Francis Simon, 31, Rulo, Neb.

The men made their way out of the hospital here on March 2 after obtaining a key in some manner, Dr. Spradling reported.

He said Code was a transfer from the state penitentiary, where he had been serving a sentence from 1942 for burglary and assault. Code had been under observation at the hospital about four months.

Dr. Spradling said Simon had been a patient about three months.

Sherriff Emory Hart of Independence, Ia., reported the men were captured by Deputy Sheriff Nite Fulton after a chase.

Actual capture of the escapes occurred at Rowley, Ia., near Independence, after witnesses reported "two suspicious characters hanging around."

Officers chased the men across fields for two miles before capture. After apprehension the men refused to tell real identities.
